-- Cross-Reference to Related Application

This application is a U.S. National Stage Application under 35 U.S.C. 371 of International Application PCT/JP03/16935, filed on December 26, 2003, which claims priority of JP 2003-1336, filed January 7, 2003. –

Reasons for Allowance

2. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: in regard to the independent claims, the primary reason for allowance of the claims is the inclusion of a modulation and demodulation sequence in combination with a synthesis sequence and precise reverse order coding contrasting during the first encoding step and the second encoding step. The closest references found teach a method that includes multiple steps of modulation and demodulation and production of multiple ultrasonic representations given a signal, but fail to describe sequentially modulating with multiple codes of which at least two are in compliment with each other in multiple sets of transmissions and then using a basic wave output demodulated by a reverse encoding set to be used in the production of a third synthesis signal (a combination of the first and second) through another synthesis step. This would allow for the drive signal to provide a new method to account for body motion when time variances exist in multiple signals in different directions, specifically the occasion where a motion occurs in a repeatable, rhythmic, cyclical motion.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on the Statement of Reasons for Allowance"
